TIMKEN VOCATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL

All over America, high schools, especially, are striving to best adapt themselves to the rapidly changing program of a nation at war.

Timken Vocational High School, equipped with all the modern facilities, is making a most worthy contribution to the program of National Defense.

The 1942 Tivo is published to picture these activities of which the faculty and the student body are justly proud—and so we present the press

The students in the Print Shop have received praise for their excellent craftsmanship, shown at its best in The Tyro and The Tivo, our school publications.

In addition these students have served the school, the Board of Education and the Superintendent as official printers. Their example is followed by other departments which are always willing and prepared to accomplish any "job" that might be requested.

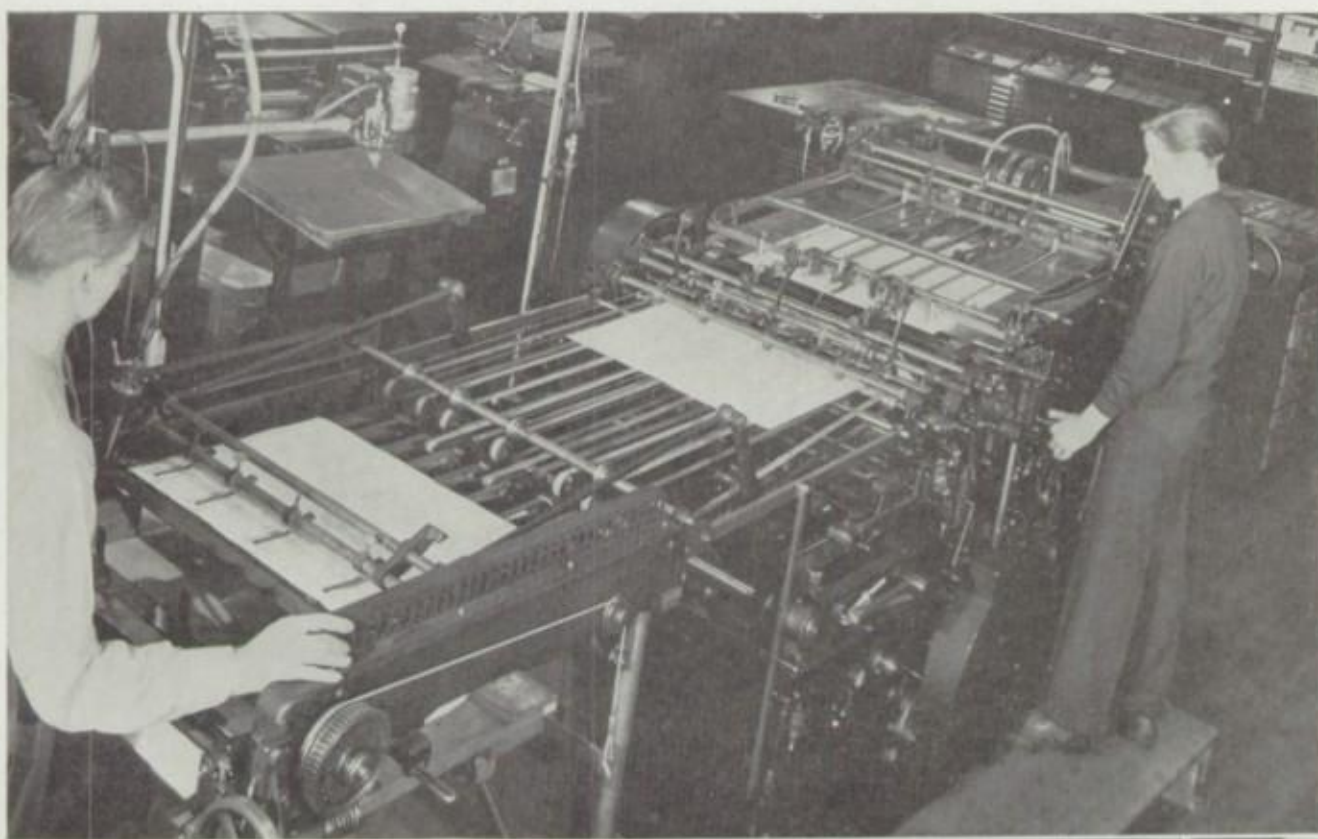

the qualified employee . . .

Commercial students, working with precision and accuracy, are setting the pace for the training of efficient and qualified employees. The demand for skilled replacements in every phase of industry has been promptly answered by young men and women from Timken.

the co-operative worker . . .

A good citizen in school life will readily assume his place when he is called upon to support the Democracy.

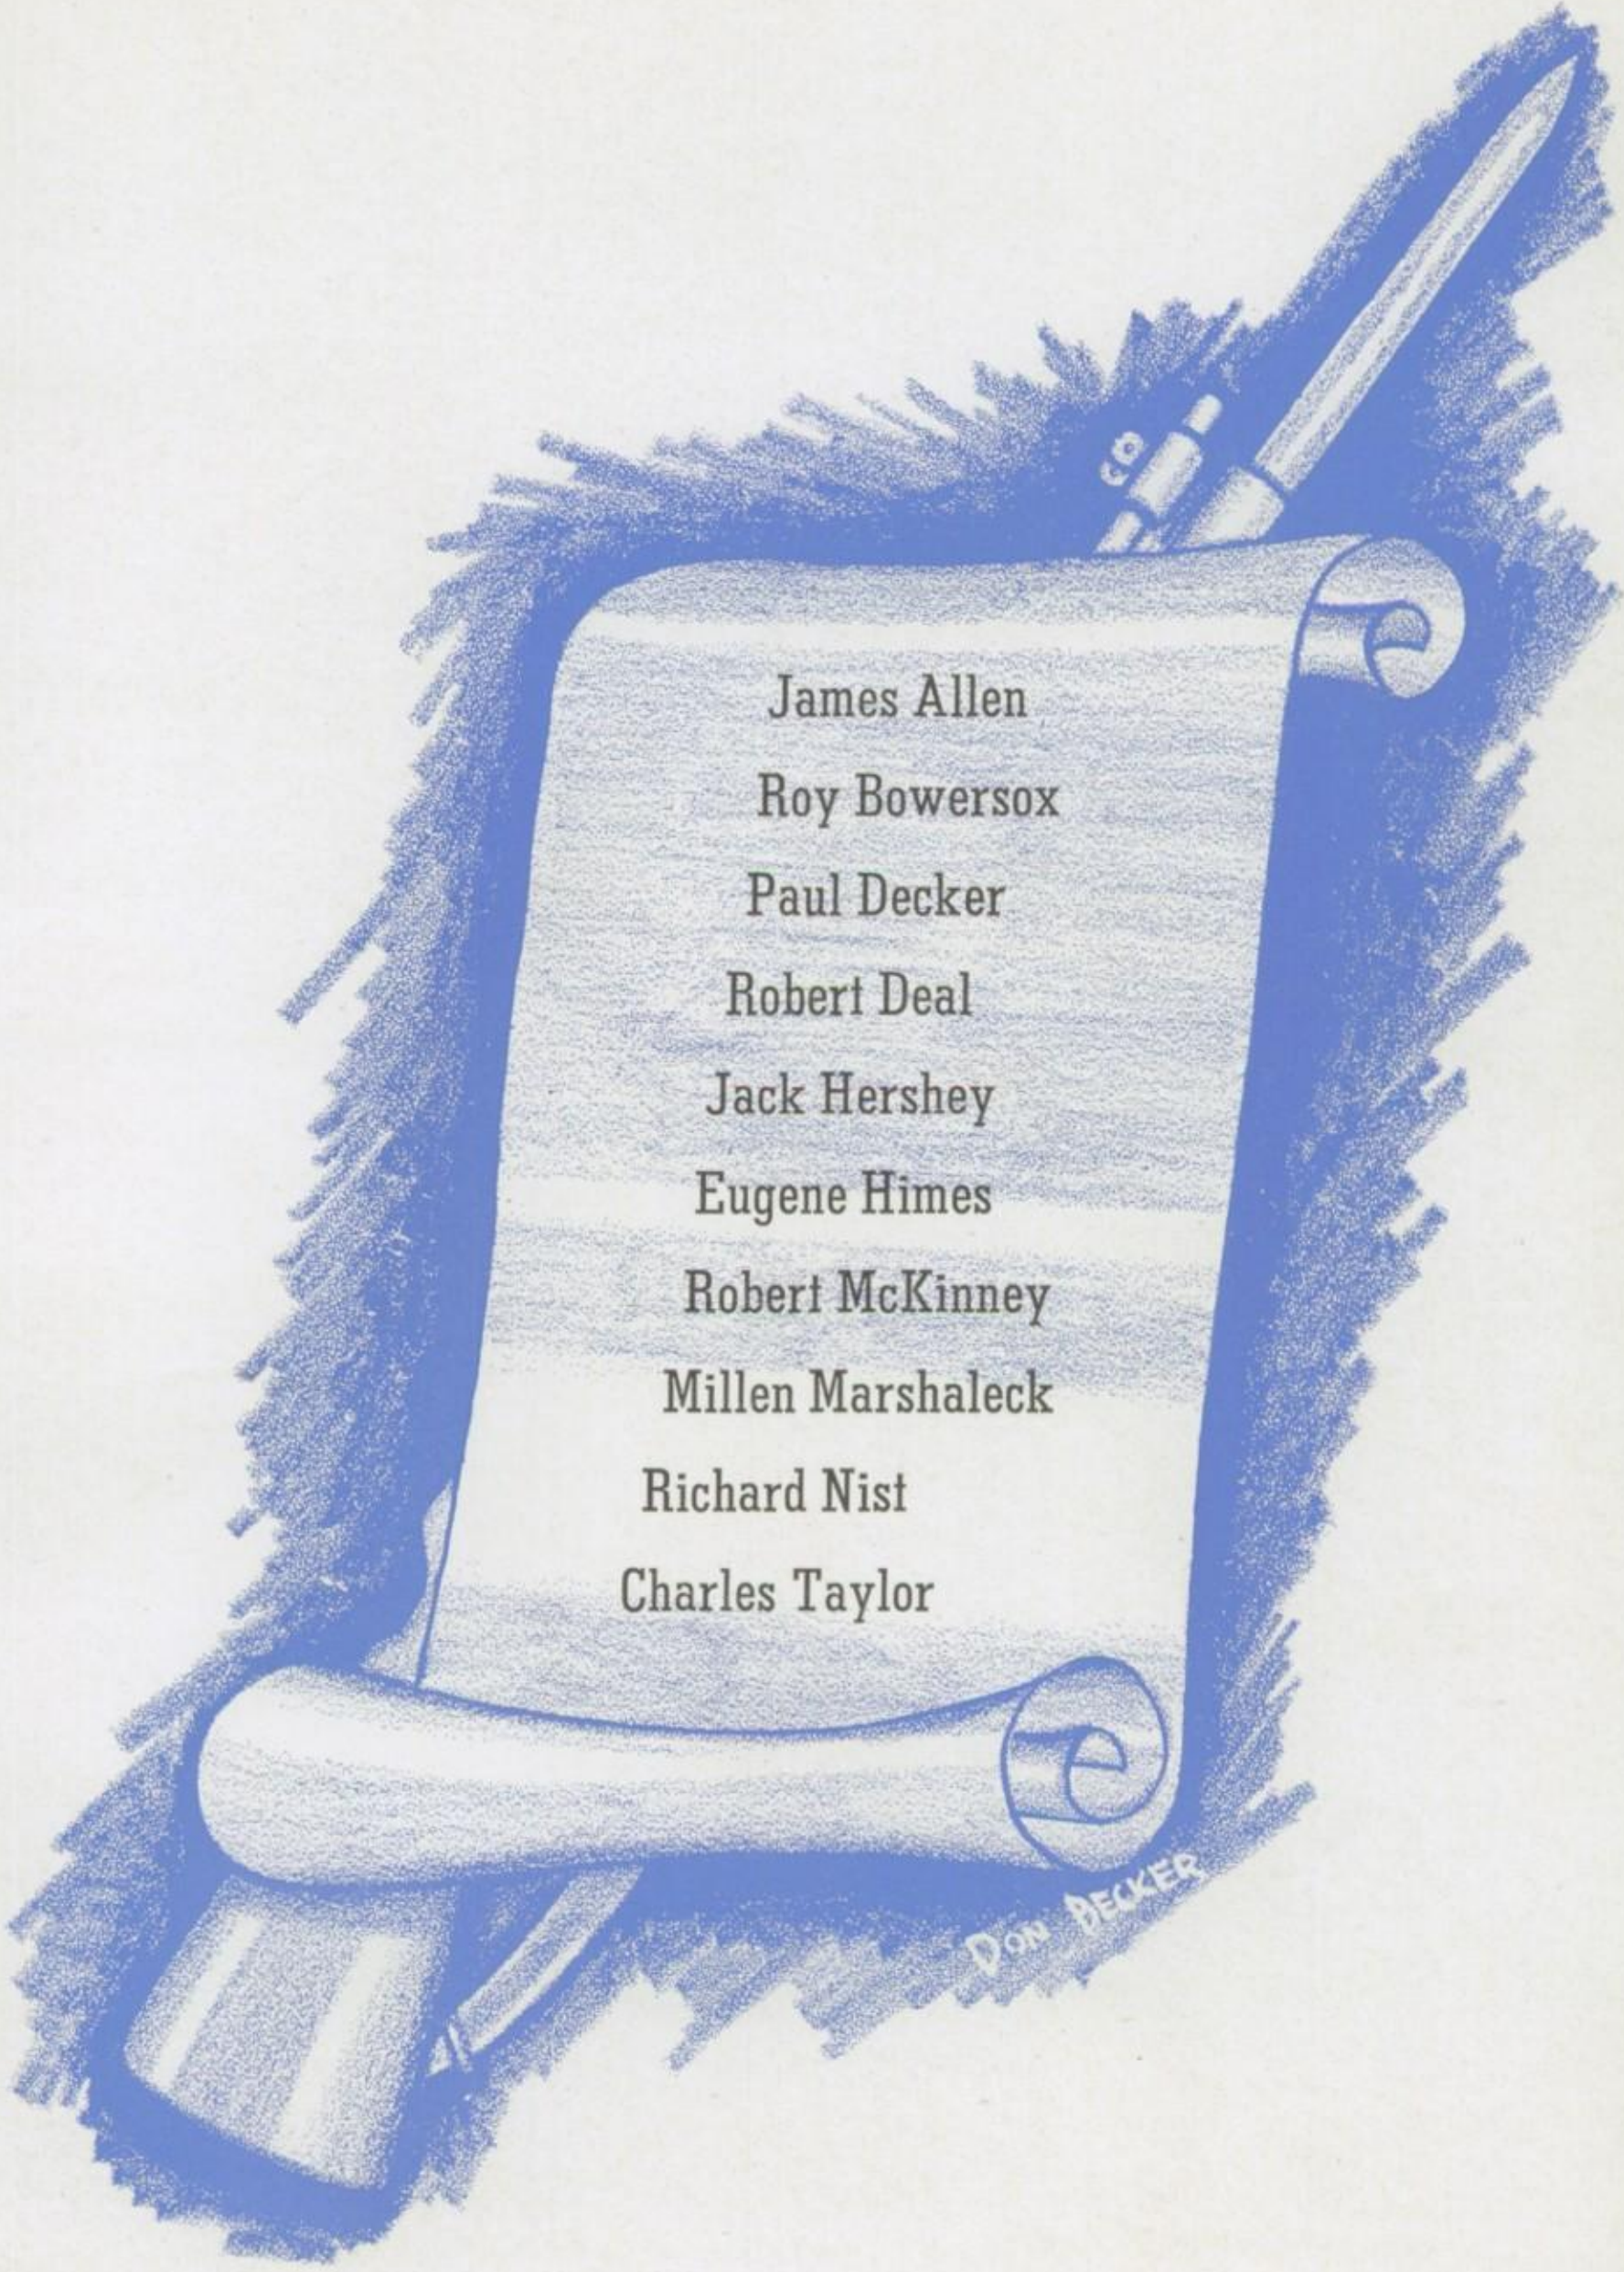

Opportunities for cooperation in civic responsibilities find Timken students prepared to put every project "over the top." The retailing students are called upon for many tasks, but two of their finest accomplishments were the school campaign for the community fund and their untiring enthusiasm in the sale of Defense Bonds and Stamps.

Three Cheers to all on the Art Staff

One of the most important elements that must be considered in the planning of an annual is the art. To insure a publication that will attract and hold the attention, a certain theme must be adopted and followed throughout the entire book. Under the capable direction of Burvil H. Glenn, the art staff for the 1942 Tivo has done commendable work on the cover, layouts, illustrating and lettering.

Editorial Staff

Immediately after Christmas vacation the hub-bub begins. All staffs have a brief consultation and soon production is under way. Students with knowledge of composing begin experimenting with words and comparing notes with the art staff. After a general inspiration is reached, editors and contributors start writing for dear life, and under the direction of Martha V. Strauch and Pauline E. Bridge tackle the task of composing, identifying names, typing and proofreading.

The following names are those of the 1942 Tivo editorial staff.

Editor	-	-	-	Esther Basner	Features	-	-	-	{ Robert Colaner
Assistant	-	-	-	Catherine Manno					{ Jean Newman
Senior Editor	-	-	-	Irene Shanabruch					{ Clare Grosenbaugh

Business Staff

Back of every school publication there must be a group of steady, consistent workers whose task is to solicit ads, encourage book sales, and supervise all business connected with the circulation of the book.

With the help and advice of Mr. William C. Myers this staff has done excellent work, for here is the 1942 Tivo.

Business Manager	-	-	-	Hazel Bolduce	Circulation Manager	-	-	-	Charles Akalarian
Bookkeeper	-	-	-	Ruth Geiger	Assistant	-	-	-	Robert Shatzer
Financial Managers	-	-	-	-					Robert Colaner and Victor Green
Typists	-	-	-	-					Mary Louise Seeman and Norman Wetzel
Solicitors: Anna Kotsch, Mary Louise Seeman, Mildred Frantz, Palmina Gradier, Charles Cheton, Eleanor Chessler, Jane Clemens, Carmel Lanza, Alice Mardyla, Marjorie Dunbar, Kathaleen Grimm, Janet Prince, Geneva Smith, Sara Bullukian, Ruth Patrick, Elaine Jacobs, Theresa Oterino, Virginia Sarno, Mary Neading, Amelia Longaciu, Carmeletta Glover, Colleen Jackman, Irene M. Shanabruch, Steve Ivanoff, Eleanor Pleasant.

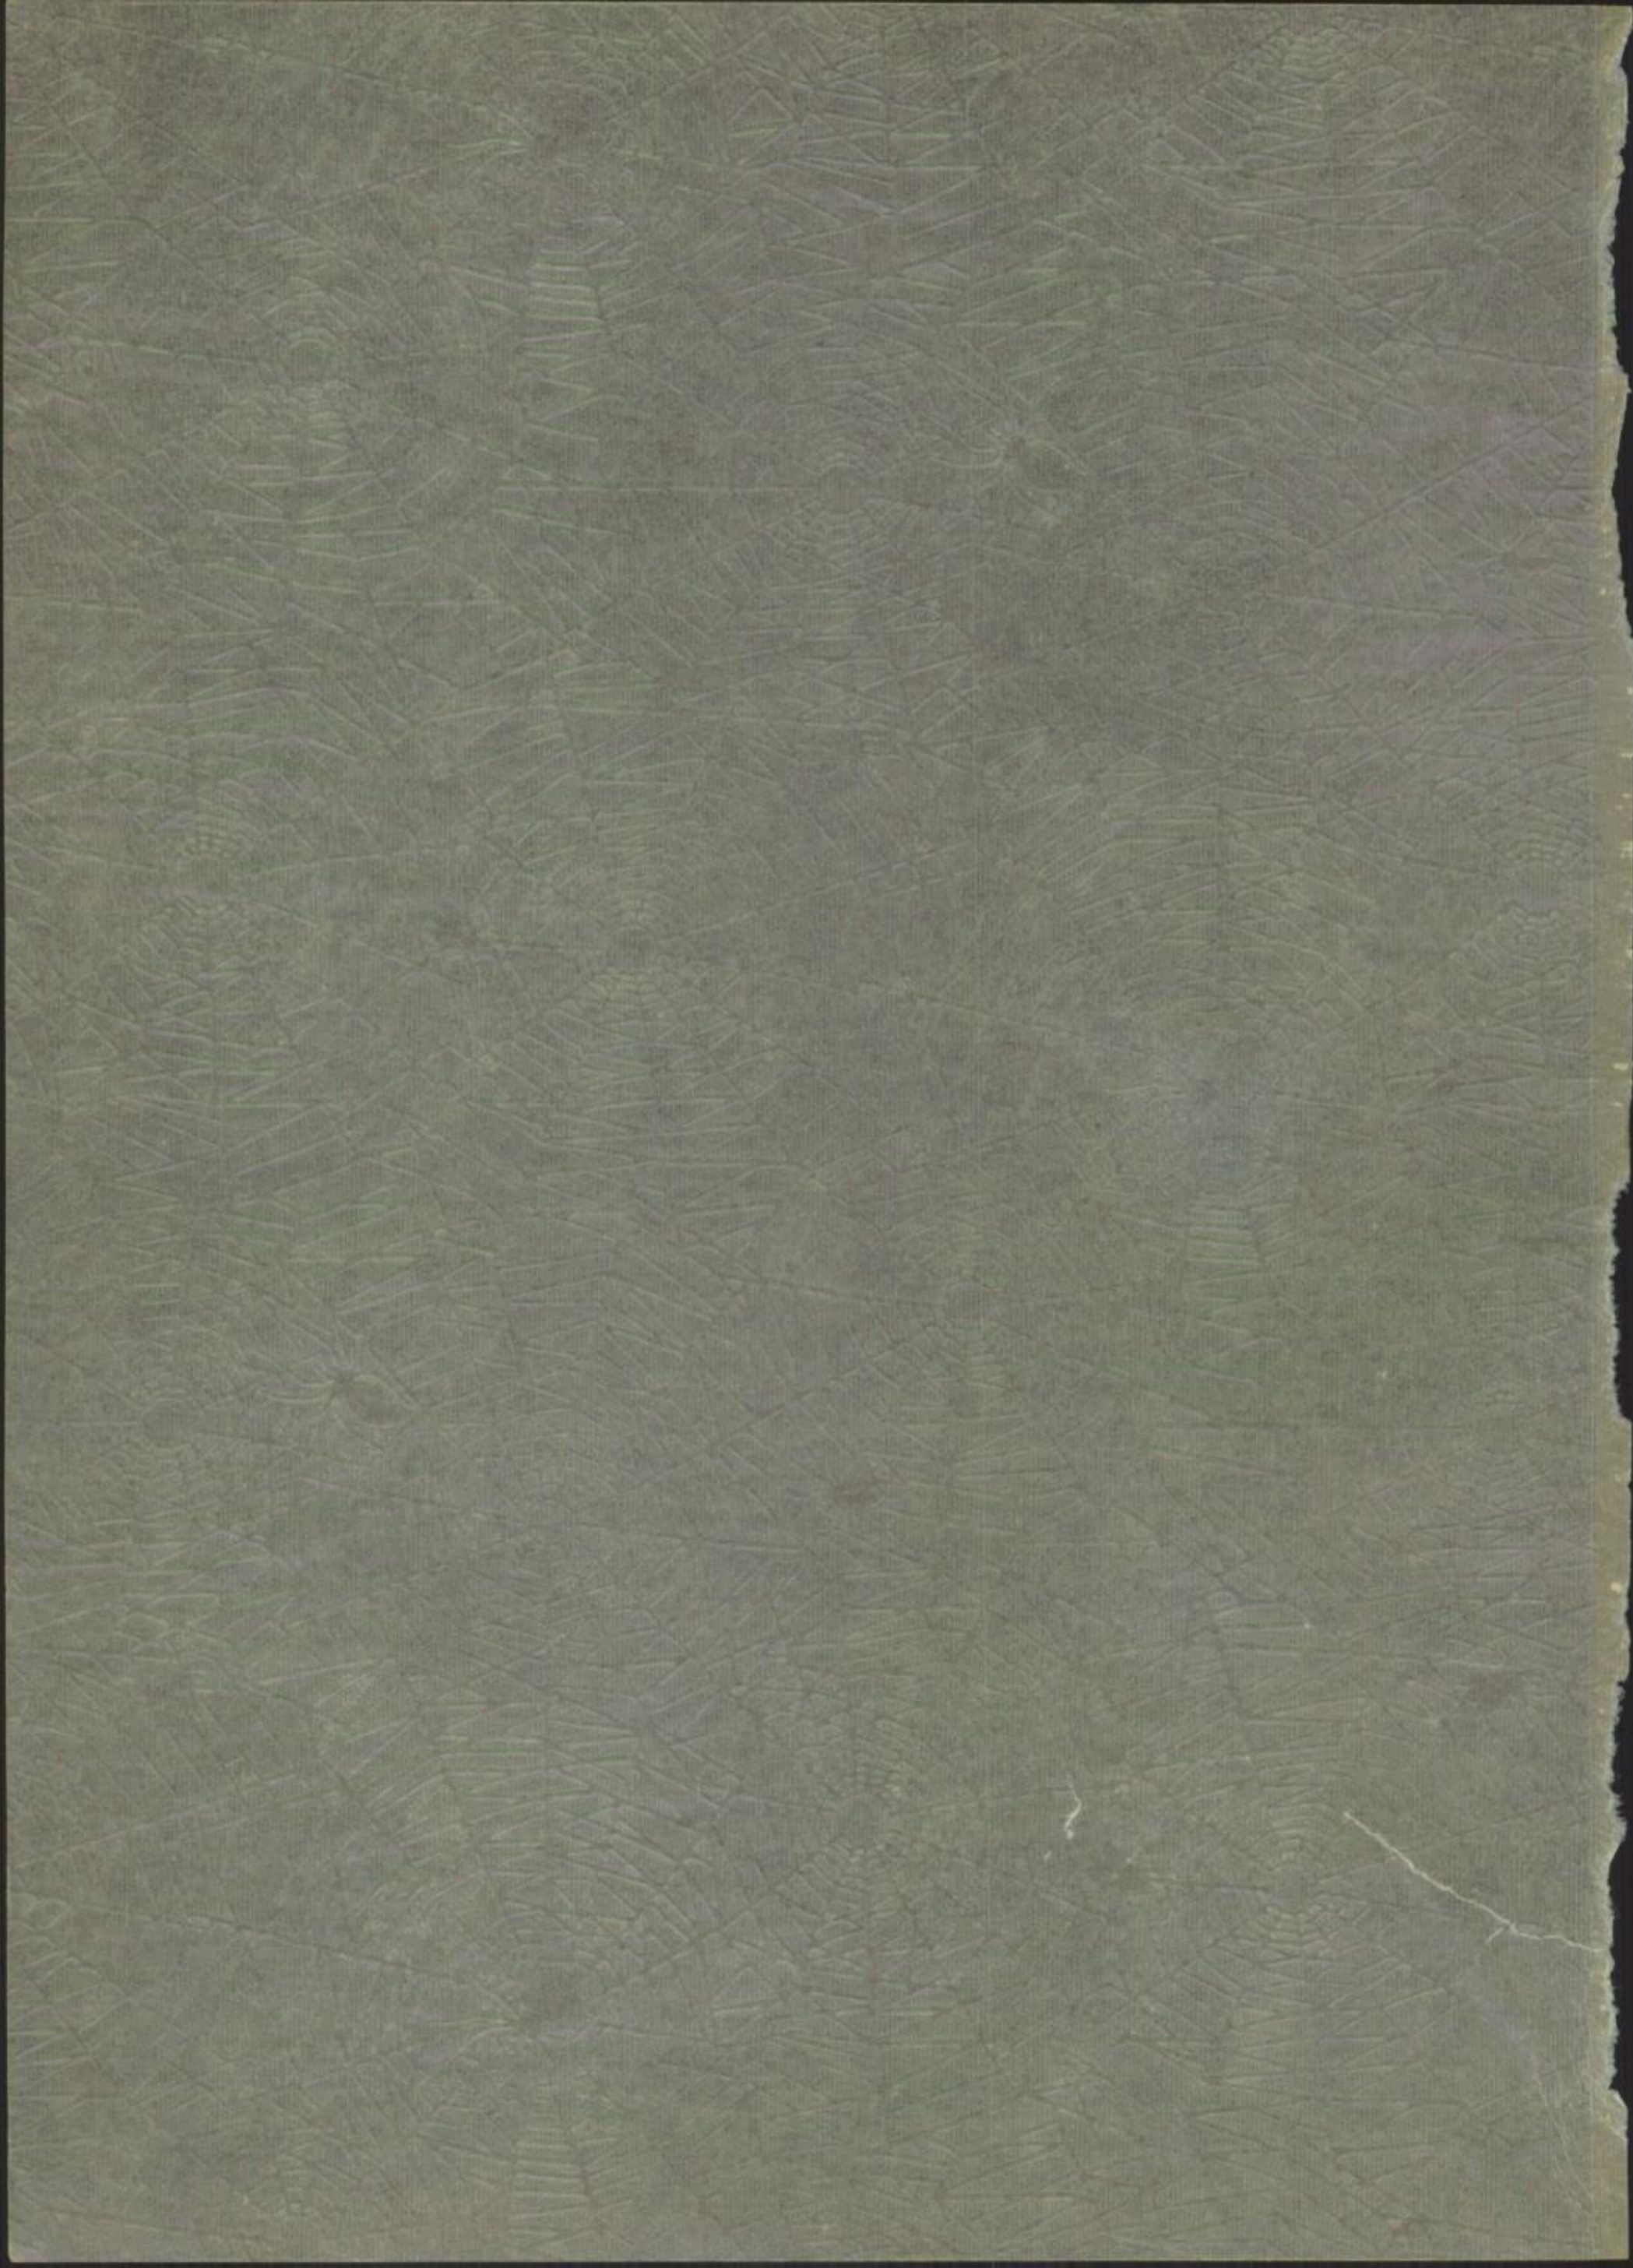

Printing Staff

There is never a dull moment in the Print Shop when it is time to print the annual. The students hurry about making up pages, running proofs, and printing the material that the editorial staff rushes to them. All this, plus preparation of the school newspaper, means a great deal of work for the printers, and much study and deliberation for Chester A. Lyle and his assistant, John Madzay.

The following students are the members of the printing staff for this year's Tivo:

John Shaheen	Albert Corey	Robert Patterson	Robert Diehl

The safety, the health, and the happiness of twenty-one thousand school children rest in the hands of a very small group of Canton businessmen—the Board of Education.

These few men carry an enormous responsibility. Yet, the heavier their burden the more they strive to demonstrate their alertness and deep interest in the welfare of Canton's future citizens. No better proof of this fact can be offered than the quick conformation which was made this year of the school system to the existing world conditions.

The school year was condensed so that high school graduates could enter Defense industries and enroll in college courses as early as possible. A shop course for girls, who wanted to do their part, was seriously considered. Arrangements were made to convert an unused grade school building into a modern emergency hospital. Thus the Board arranged an entire war program of its own.

Uppermost in the mind of each and every member of the school board has been the well-being of you, and you, and you. Zealously, they have adopted many measures that would lead towards this end, and thereby have guided Canton safely through what might have been a troublesome school year.

May Timken be among the first to express gratitude to this small group of men for a difficult task well done.

MR. JESSE H. MASON
Superintendent of Schools

He puts you at ease. His manner and talk are not too brisk and business-like, but more of the I-have-plenty-of-time, don't-be-nervous, let's-talk-it-over type. You are surprised at his memory. Why should he remember you particularly, and the little things in which you are interested? But he does, and wants to know how they're "coming along."

In chatting with him, it is surprising to note that the tongue is not glued to the roof of the mouth. Talk flows easily and you find yourself discussing hobbies, your own ideas — things not even related to school — but oddly enough, at the end of the interview, all those little difficulties of yours are ironed out and seem, now, quite simple and small. It would be impossible to be untruthful with him or pretend to be something you aren't, so great is the confidence he places in you. Perhaps it isn't noticed, but you also place unexpressed faith in him.

When he laughs, his mirth is genuine, and you feel extremely pleased at the idea of having entertained him.

To find a person who approaches him with fear would be difficult. You go instead to find a friend — a friend who is frank and has the amazing ability of being able to help make your rainbow of dreams a reality.

FORD O. HARRISON

When it comes to giving advice about any difficult problems, arranging schedules, or furnishing help in a puzzling situation, our principal, Ford O. Harrison, is more than willing to cooperate.

The student body is proud to be under his guidance, and truly believes that, without his careful and deliberate decisions made for the students, and for the betterment of our school, Timken Vocational High School would not be the independent school it is today.

G. F. MALICK

As Vocational Director and leader of the National Defense Training Classes, G. F. Malick is responsible for a great part in our scheme of education.

His patience and cooperation with his fellow workers, his exactness in whatever he undertakes, and his desire for perfection all help to make him the remarkable director that he is.

His possession of a friendly smile, a sense of humor, and an alert mind go to make him one of the best-liked personalities at Timken Vocational High School.

Office Staffs

Efficiency, cheerfulness, willingness to help, and ability—these are but a few of the qualities which describe our office staff.

No office is complete without an efficient staff, and Mr. Malick's office is certainly no exception.

These four senior students have proven their worth by turning out a big part of the Vocational and Defense work competently and willingly.

Faculty

Has anyone ever heard of a country without a government? Of course not. Our faculty is to our school just what that government is to a country.

Without the government, a country would be positively worthless; without our faculty, our school would be utterly useless.

The faculty at Timken Vocational High School is doing a marvelous job in preparing the student body to do its part in maintaining our Democracy.

The teachers are not only striving to teach skill in individual subjects, but they are also training students in the characteristics of good citizenship. Emphasis is placed upon character development—growth of personality being equal in importance to book learning.

And so to these friends of ours who in their way are preserving America for Americans we say, "Keep 'em learning."

All that is typical of the average high school boy and girl is represented by the quartet elected at the start of the school year as officers for the senior class.

There are innumerable adjectives that could be used in describing the vivid personalities of each of these leaders, but there are none so effective as the ones that portray them as aspiring, friendly, modest, and wholesome students.

The senior class has been happy under their leadership and guidance.

The Senior Review

The country's leading military geniuses sat at attention! Slowly, General Education rose to his feet, cleared his throat, and surveyed his audience with an air of well-founded pride.

"Gentlemen," the General began, "I am flattered by your extreme interest in the brilliant conquest of my senior Trojans. I am indeed pleased to outline for you the advance of my troops.

"As you probably know, my army was formed from a selected group of soldiers who had rated the highest merits during their previous nine years of training. By beginning our campaign late in the year of 1939, we were able to reach our objective after a three-year march. Every mile of ground that we gained gave us reassurance and new courage to continue until final victory.

"We scaled Mt. Mathematics, descended into the swamp land of History Hollow, and swam Biology Bay. The Jungle of English was a treacherous obstacle but we forced our way through it successfully.

"During the last two years, our campaign took a more exciting turn. Our forces divided. One detachment fought a victorious battle on Commercial Field. Another unit made a thrilling conquest on Machinist Hill. Still another one marched eastward and was able to cross the Art River with flying colors.

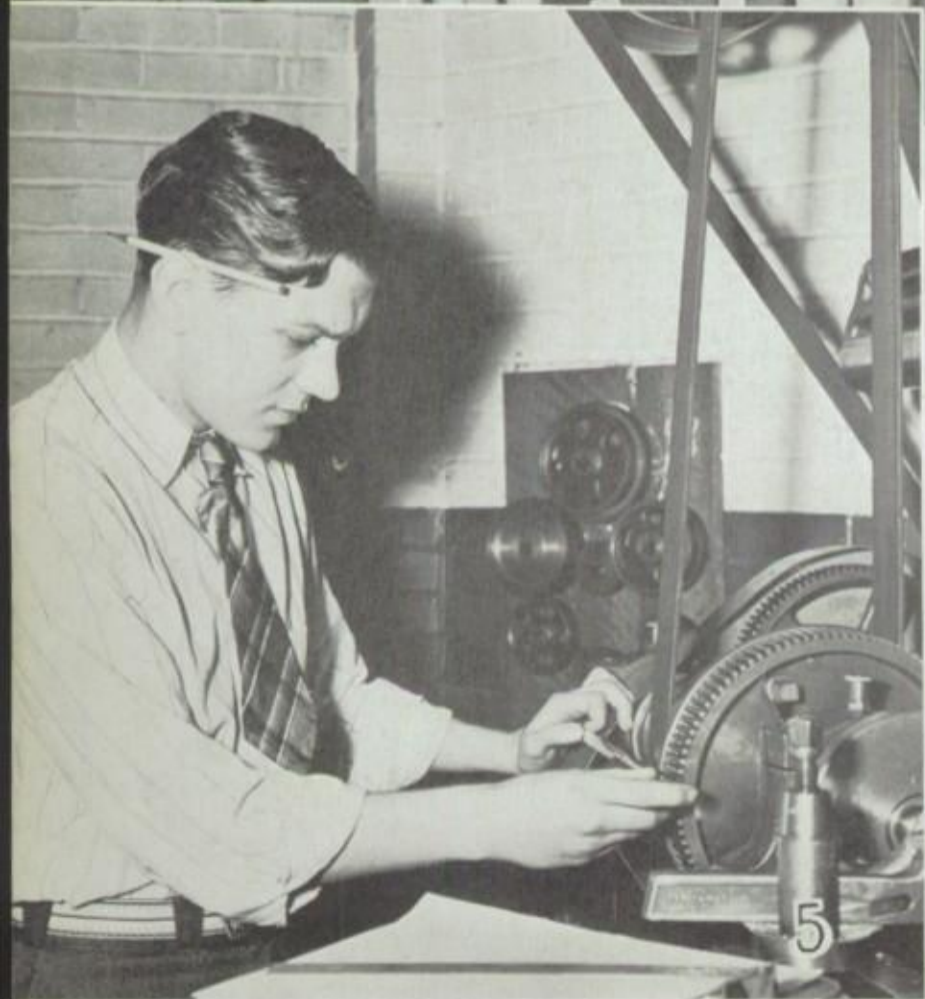

"However, gentlemen, do not assume that our adventure was totally dismal and hazardous. For, we devoted many pleasant hours to activities such as ball games, plays, and musical performances. All of these proved helpful diversions."

"But now," the General continued enthusiastically, "I am about to explain the problem with which I am now confronted."

"We have finally reached our goal! Diploma City, the capital of the State of Graduation, is ours. We must now prove that the twelve years of training and battling that were necessary to make this capture were years well spent."

"My valiant soldiers must be told that although they accomplished what they set out to do, their battle is not yet won. They must be made to see that there are other capital cities still to be captured. My men must learn that many hardships, as well as many pleasures, lie ahead of them.

"The senior Trojan army has just made a great triumph, gentlemen, but victors cannot rest upon their laurels until the entire battle of life is won."

1. "This is how we sew." 2. "And this is how we cook." 3. "Stick 'em up." 4. Good-bye, Timken; Hello, Washington. 5. Watch your finger, John! 6. Here's how!

The Junior Review

The freshman, sophomore, and senior reviews—these were comparatively simple to compose, but as the hour drew nigh for the junior review to be gotten underway—we realized we were stumped.

The freshie and soph can dwell eloquently upon his many little absurdities, his discovery of the prestige and friendliness of Timken High, and his happy hours spent at gay parties. The senior can orate that he has reached his goal and is now prepared to venture out into the world, but with a tear in his eye at the thought of leaving his dear old Alma Mater. But the junior class falls into neither of these categories, and consequently is rather difficult to write about.

The junior might be described as the "in-between" at Timken. He is neither as silly as the freshie or soph, nor has he the inflated ego and maturity of the senior. He is the "in-between"—the backbone of the school. He is neither too bold and conceited, nor is he in any way too reticent. He is good looking, for he has studied how to make the most of his features, and has learned that personality counts a great deal in the world of today. He has a sense of humor that is definitely past the silly stage, and he can have fun at a party—just come to a junior party and see.

But the most important of all the characteristics one detects in a junior is—he has, or is developing, a sense of responsibility. They say we have five senses—taste, smell, touch, hearing, and sight. Not meaning to be in any way revolutionary, but how about adding as the sixth—a sense of responsibility? So few people have it. So many people need it.

But the juniors have it. Give a typical junior a position in a club that calls for organization and management, and he will carry it out to the best of his ability. For the junior is beginning to grow up. He is developing a serious side that tells him to make the most of opportunities that may come once in a lifetime. He has passed the rather general studies of the freshie and soph, and is now entering his chosen field. It's now or never for a junior, and he intends it will not be "never." He has seen many a sign reading "Are You Employable?" He intends to be employable.

So, with enthusiasm and energy, heads up and eyes shining, the junior class looks forward to their senior year. May the first class that is really Timken's own—the class of '43—go to make a crowning success of their last days in the halls of Timken!

Sophomore Review

The Sophomore has come to the stage where he or she must make a choice. The field of activity which may be his life work is to be singled out. The foundation has been firmly laid. Beginning with the three "r's" up to this higher standard of education, the Sophomore feels justified in saying "so far, so good."

Some aspire to be mechanics, some businessmen, and still others, technicians. They all have one thought in common, however, "Hit 'em hard, U. S. A." Many will undoubtedly be called by Uncle Sam in later years, and they will have had the basic training so valuable in this fight for civilization.

Everyone feels certain that these past two years have been a success, and with that accomplished, the goal has been set ahead two more years.

Freshman Review

How proud we were the day we learned that the privilege of attending Timken Vocational High School was to be ours. After visiting this school when we were in the eighth grade, we realized that here was something to really work for, and we strived by every means to reach our goal. Through much patient effort and constant study, our dreams were finally realized.

To most of us, the hope of participating in some of the many school activities meant new experiences, and the prospect of benefiting from these only increased the eagerness with which we waited for the opening day. Each entering student found himself eligible for a splendid uniform in the band, that sought-after place on the publication staff, participation on the different athletic teams, or membership in the various clubs which aim to develop character and personality.

Of utmost importance, however, was the opportunity we had to choose our desired profession and begin the ground work for this important vocation. In this way, we will receive special training that will enable us to fill the places of the many out-going students, though this task will not be an easy one, as everyone concerned realizes.

Just as the word "Freshies" implies, we experienced something new and quite different and found that at Timken being a freshman could be and really was fun! Since all students have gone through this baby stage at one time or another, they should be able to understand why we appreciated the consideration of the upperclassmen in assisting us through those first trying days of our high school career. Each little favor or courtesy that was shown us will serve as an example to follow in later years.

Following the usual tradition, we will to the class of "46" that name in which the older students seem to find a special pleasure, "Freshie!" Next year it will be our right to tease the new students as we have been teased, but it will do us good to keep in mind that there is a reasonable limit to everything.

Although we will be glad to know that we have been progressive in our studies, the change from one group to another seems a little sad, for later on the memories of these happy days will make us wish that we could live them over again.

We pass on to our sophomore year with a determined effort to make each study count in its individual way.

Senior Choral Society

Choruses from Carmen, in all the opera's beauty, coming from the well-mastered voices of Timken Choral Club provided many a thrill.

The students who sang in this club were enrolled in a class which met each day. Choral Club, elected as a subject, had a ratio of three boys to one girl.

We had the pleasure of hearing these skilled singers, under Cecil Armitage's expert directing, at Commencement, Class Night, Timken Revue and other senior and school affairs.

Timken Service Society

Attention, astronomers! This group of students is not a heavenly constellation, but it is composed of many sparkling scholastic stars.

Truly, these shining Timkenites are the pride of our school. And why not?

A few of these students represent the guards and attendants at the noon movies. With their help, an easy and economical method of admitting pupils into the auditorium was adopted. They are an invaluable aid to our busy Mr. Paul Elliott and certainly deserve a big pat on the back.

The larger group in our Service Society might be called Timken's Guiding Stars, for they are a select group of students who serve as guides, ushers, and receptionists.

We always will look for our energetic Timken Service Society to give that special service with that extra special smile.

Home Room Representatives

Timken Vocational High School boasts of a group of leading students who are known about school as the Home Room Representatives. These boys and girls are truly "representatives" as they were elected by their fellow classmates during an election which was held in each home room early in the fall.

Their numerous duties consist of collecting dues, selling school pencils, obtaining subscriptions for the Tivo and aiding in the selling of tickets for various school performances. Through all these projects this group maintains a successful contact between the students and the numerous activities of the school. The responsibility of their position aids these students in learning to know the school, the faculty, and each other. Thus, through their many activities, the Home Room Representatives have done much to foster better school spirit.

Dramatics

Curtain! Lights! Action!

"Romeo, Romeo, wherefore art thou, Romeo?"

"Cut! Take it again from the balcony scene—this time make it a little louder."

These and similar sounds are heard coming from ambitious, struggling actors, reading their lines. Aided by our modern stage, equipped with the latest switch-board and a breath-taking velour curtain, they have contributed much to the pleasure of Timken's students. With the skilled directing of Miss Erna Hinkel the club presented one major production this year, "Calling All Ghosts," which starred David Elliott, Betty Smith, Patricia Harmon, and Llewellyn Knight.

Five assemblies were enjoyed by students because of the special plays which were presented by this group. One was based on the life of Gutenberg, the famous printer of the 1400's.

Seniors are given pins as special recognition when they have earned their credits under a point system.

Library Staff

"We read it before and we'll read it again."

"Is Pride and Prejudice in the library?"

"Have you a copy of Gone With the Wind?"

"Dick told me Les Miserables was good reading, may I see it?"

The staff, in answering these questions presides over one of the finest libraries in the city. The large seating capacity permits many students each day to use our 5,175 books, enjoying a period of either reserved quietness or serious study.

The Student Library Staff was organized in 1939 under Miss Ada Zimmerman and is now composed of 35 students of high scholastic ability, who serve the Timken student body efficiently and conscientiously. The aim of each staff member is not only to maintain a retreat for pleasant relaxation, but to encourage students to broaden their reading.

"Yes, Pride and Prejudice is in the library."

"Will you please sign your name here and we'll save Gone With the Wind for you."

"Les Miserables is very good reading. Come over here and I will get it for you."

Stagecraft

A play without a setting is as unexciting as our Tivo would be without pictures. To create the backgrounds for the stage at Timken Vocational High School, the Stage Craft Club brings forth ideas; gives them actual form with hammer, saw, and paint brush.

The Stage Technicians throw skillful lighting upon these changing scenes. Several of the members are trained in running the carbon arc spotlight. This light consumes seven thousand watts, which makes it one of the most powerful in the state. The power for the light is generated in the school Electric Shop and the necessary meters are located in the projection booth. Thus the operators must work in close harmony with the switchboard operator in order to get the correct timing of the large spot. This is done by a direct telephone connection between the stage and projection booth.

In all these tasks behind the curtain, each member of the crew takes active part and contributes toward a completed performance "out front."

G.A.A.

Girls' Athletic Association—yes, it is "just that." It is composed of the active and athletic-minded girls of Timken Vocational High School. By a few strenuous tumbling practices, tournaments of basketball, volleyball, ping pong and tennis, these girls have attained one hundred and fifty points which are necessary to become a member of G. A. A.

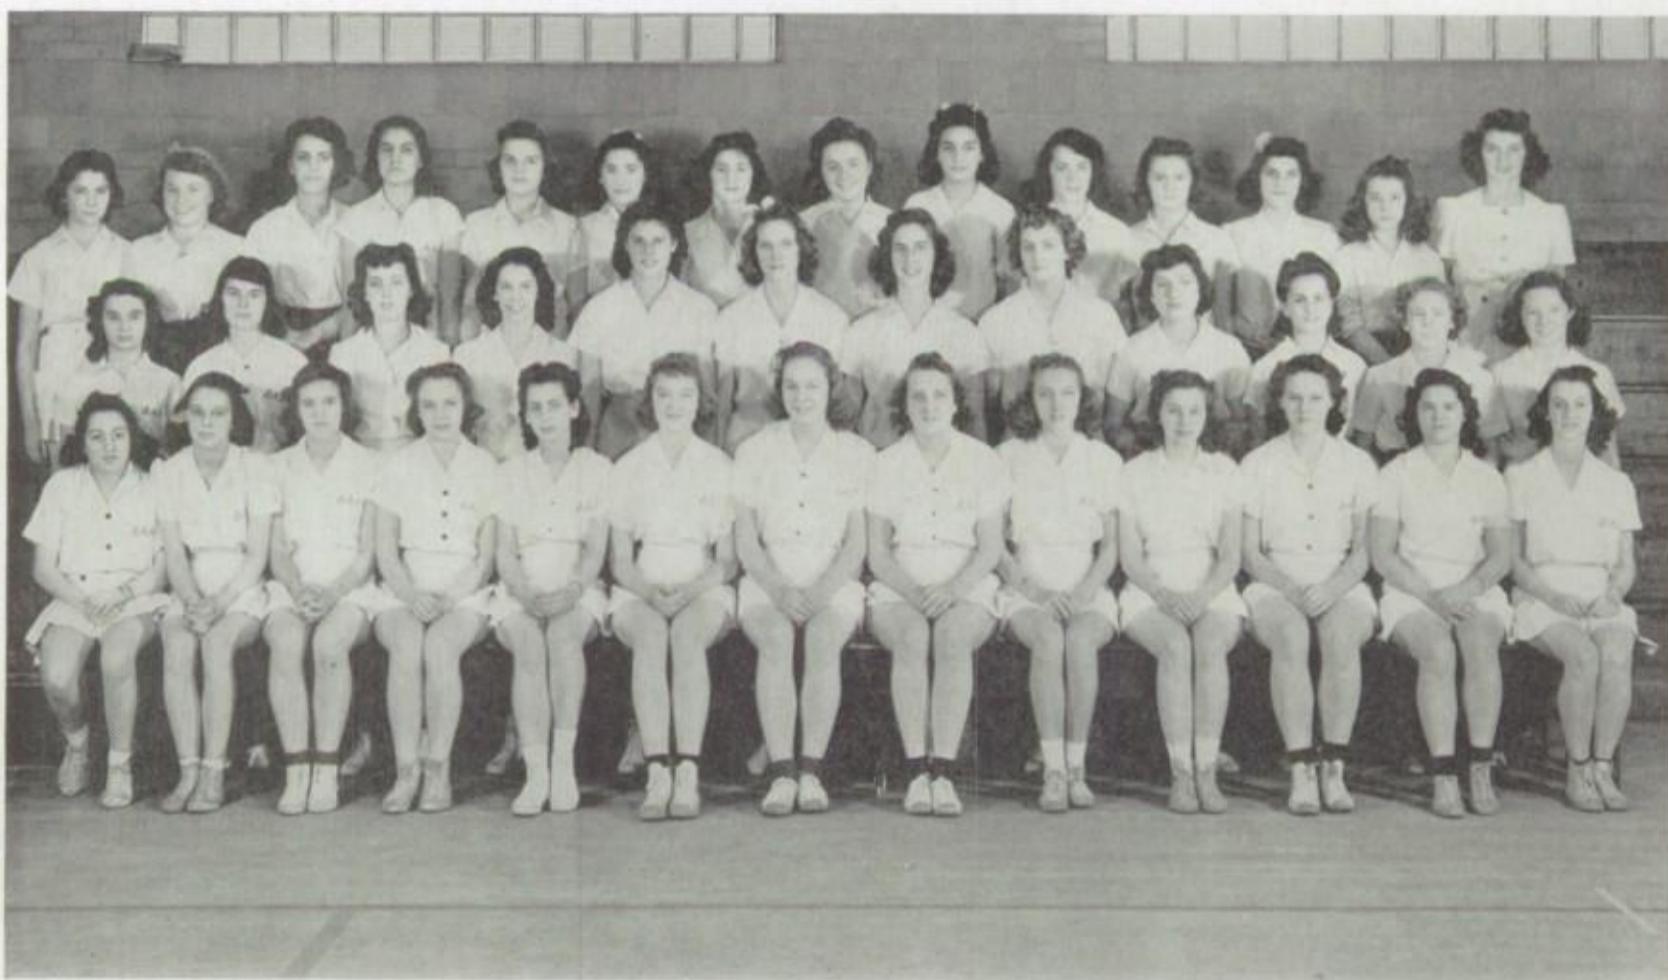

If by chance you gaze into the gym while the girls are engaged in their gymnastics, you will recognize these G. A. A. lassies by their dashing apparel. They will be arrayed in their new white ensembles with the club insignia on the pocket. On their head will be perched a clever little crew hat.

These flashy femmes head the gym classes, manage and referee intramural sports activities, and are handy assistants to their gym leader, Miss Grace Burdge. All in all—these are the girls who, by their cheerful efforts, promote a friendly feeling of sportsmanship throughout the gym.

Graphic Arts

The Timken Graphic Arts Club is a chapter of the Student Honor Organization of the National Graphic Arts Education Association, an organization of printing teachers and those interested in the allied trades. The Timken chapter is made up of senior printing students, who through their three years of school life have continued to advance in both citizenship and application to work.

The members have brought national recognition to Timken's Print Shop for its excellence through the medium of reproduction of work in the leading printing trade journals of the country. The boys have entered several national prize contests and, in one international contest, a student's essay rated fifth. Through their interest a bookbinding class has been organized which meets, on an average, once a week, in the evenings.

Orchestra

The Timken Vocational High School's 31 piece orchestra is a group of hard working students who practice three days a week for the various performances throughout the year. One of the most important is the annual "Revue" held in the spring. Although quite a bit of work and time are devoted to music, the students receive a lot of enjoyment from playing their various instruments and so Concert time is approached with such well rehearsed numbers as the "G Minor Symphony." After concert season the next thoughts are of baccalaureate, class night and unforgettable graduation.

Although these are perhaps the most important assignments, we must not forget to mention the smaller ones such as the school plays, assemblies, teachers' lectures, and various other meetings held in the auditorium.

The old proverb "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" is not carried out with these musicians as they have their share of good times along with their work. But who minds a little work when it is as enjoyable as music?

Tyro Staff

Once a month the TYRO staffs revealed a piece of work that was, in a sense, the "voice of the students." Each time an issue was released for circulation, the staff members were unusually alert for criticisms from the readers. The comments were absorbed and put to use by this group; consequently, there was created a paper "of the students, by the students, and for the students." In addition to the activities of the students, there appeared many attempts to enlighten the youth about character and personality.

An efficient business staff always kept the TYRO in the financial safety zone with sufficient margin. The publication paid for itself by its advertising and subscriptions.

The high grade of workmanship shown by the Print Shop which printed the paper was always a great asset in publishing.

As fresh youth enter Timken Vocational High School, it is hoped that their new minds will continue to recognize the freedom of the press and to allow the TYRO to be their "spokesman."

Tivo Staff

At last the dream has become a reality—the Print Staff's dream of seeing those reams upon reams of paper actually bound together into a beautiful book; the Art Staff's dream of having their rough sketches and designs finally made into a cover; the Business Staff's dream of seeing the ads so eagerly sought after really printed on the pages; and the Editorial Staff's dream of seeing their thoughts and ideas conveyed to the readers.

It seemed like an endless task, but it must not have been, because through some strange act of providence, here it is—the 1942 TIVO.

Because of the lack of a regular period for work on the TIVO, and because of the variety of other activities in which the members participated, the greatest part of the work had to be done out of school time. Only in the Print Shop and Art Class is the TIVO work considered as part of the curriculum.

There is one thing certain, however—and that is that every member of the staff has enjoyed the individual work he or she has done and has put his heart and soul into it.

Basketball

Hitting their peak early in the year the Trojans began their season in high gear and rode rough-shod over four opponents before losing to a veteran Farrell quintet, 40-36. From that game on they were invincible and finished the regular season unbeaten in Ohio competition. Turning in convincing triumphs over Lincoln, Lehman, and McKinley, the Trojans successfully defended their City Championship and took a lion's share of the County Crown. At season's end, they had one of the best records in the entire state with sixteen wins and one loss.

The Trojans and their followers entertained high hopes for a state championship and looked with pleasure upon the Troy men's first three appearances against Girard, Youngstown Ursuline, and Alliance. Then a strong Warren five came along to contest that title with the Trojans, and the outcome was the first loss of the year to an Ohio team. Warren triumphed 40-29.

Reserve Basketball

Compiling a record of 13 wins in 15 starts the Timken Reserves, under the mentorship of Dan Risaliti, rolled up 513 points while holding their opponents to 302 markers. The "Little Trojans" were undoubtedly the smoothest ball handlers of any underclass quintet in this vicinity. Against the opposition the Reserves threw up an impregnable shifting zone defense, forcing the offense to rely on long shots for their points.

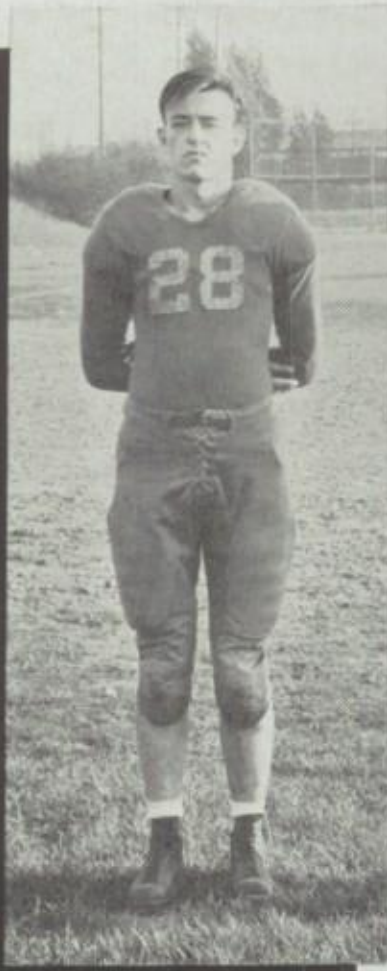

The offense was led by Angelo Sanchez and George Mann, both averaging close to 10 points per game.

The Troymen's defeats came at the hands of North Canton 27-26 and Lehman 30-28.

1941 Football Squad

The 1941 season brought to a close the football careers of thirteen seniors, who have served the Blue and Gold for the past three years.

During this time, the Trojans compiled a commendable record of thirteen wins, eleven losses and three ties.

In the first year of Timken football they brought the Little City Series Championship to the school, and in the past two years have played well under the guidance of coaches Jones and Risaliti. Our seniors have given a praise-worthy performance in every game in which they engaged.

These boys will be missed by our school, our coaches, and their teammates.

Queen for a Day

A hush fell upon the gay, excited crowd at the Timken-Lehman football game. A pause—and then a tall and stately queen stepped forth upon the field.

Every Timkenite thrilled at the awe-inspiring scene. For the first time the Trojans were presenting their Royal Highness, and one glance was sufficient to prove that she had been wisely chosen.

But, the eager expectancy of the throng could not be satisfied with just one glance. As Queen Mary Ellen Franta, followed by Dorothy Kagey, Patricia Addleman, and Sue Kestel, walked across the field, every eye followed her. When she and her attendants were escorted to their imaginary throne every heart tingled.

However, this fine display of pride was justified. Mary Ellen, the First, and her court made an impression upon our school annals that will remain unforgettable. These lovely girls, selected for their admirable personalities, were the popular choice of the entire senior class.

The Tyro staff now realizes that its efforts to support the reign of a football queen were successful and appreciated. The queen ruled; long live the queen in the memory of the Trojans of 1941-42.

Don't you feel that uncontrollable urge to send up a rousing yell whenever you see this energetic octet that leads our school cheers? Well, here is a magnificent opportunity to do just that.

However, this time the situation is going to be reversed. You, as the student body, are going to lead the cheer. Under the skillful direction of Mary Ellen Franta, Irma Chiarucci, Shirley Scott, Jackie Bitzel, Don Miller, Clifford Haga, Vernon Kohn, and Dean Long, you have cheered for the success of your team, your school, and your teachers. Now, it is time for you to take it upon yourself to give a lively, excited shout for those eight students that have been so helpful at all the pep rallies, and football and basketball games.

Your cheer must express encouragement and show deep appreciation. It will take only a few seconds to show your school spirit, but it will mean a great deal to the small group that has strived so hard to develop this better spirit in Timken.

The Blue Team

For the first time in the history of Blue and Gold competition, the Blues were triumphant in the annual spirited encounter that took place in the gymnasium.

Confident that each team was superior, the clash became a furious, thrilling battle. The Gold was shadowed by the Blue team at the first quarter with a score of 13-12. Both teams strengthened their defense and though the Golds made a strong bid for the lead, the score was left standing 23-24 at the half.

After a well deserved and much enjoyed intermission the Blues surged ahead to a lead of 29-24. Still determined to attain victory the Golds made a desperate attempt to even the score, but the Blues were confident of their ability to capture the honors. The Blue Team was rewarded for their mighty efforts when at the sound of the gun, the score was 38-34!

High scorer with 24 points was Ila Erickson of the Blue. Regina Sifft headed the Gold with 21 points.

GRACE BURDGE

In addition to being the girls' gym instructor, Grace Burdge fills the position of coach for the all-star volleyball and basketball teams. The cheerful manner and vigorous activity she expresses as she works has placed her high in the esteem of Timken students.

The Gold Team

"Practice makes perfect," quotes the Gold and Blue teams. These girls have experienced strenuous practice throughout the intramural and all-star basketball season. A series of games were conducted in the gym every morning as preliminaries to the Gold and Blue classic. At the close of the intramural basketball competition a great number of athletic-minded girls were on hand for the final try-outs. After two weeks of tedious practice, twenty-four girls were selected for their skill and dexterity, and placed on their squad by the gym instructor, Miss Grace Burdge. Each team practiced on alternating days, working out their own individual plays. Supporting the captains for the betterment of the teams were the managers, who proved able assistants. The Gold team arrayed in gold sateen suits with blue numerals and insignia made a striking appearance. Clad in royal blue outfits with gold numerals and insignia were the dashing damsels who represented the Blue.

The Blue team was sponsored by Miss Elizabeth Groves and the Gold team by Miss Dorothy Easton. Miss Betty Fisher of Brewster officiated.

1. The technique of blueprinting. 2. A perfect fit for perfect models. 3. A man of industry.
4. An angel of mercy? 5. Proudly it stands!

Vim and Vigor

FIRST ROW: Patty Gordon, Mary Rampi, Pauline Rupert, Janet Bellinski, Ann Panella.

SECOND ROW: Betty Bartley, Ruth Boord, Betty Owens.

THIRD ROW: Gloria Davis, Ila Erickson, Regina Sifft.

FIRST ROW: Jean Bremkamp, Dorothy Rohe, Betty Hossler, Katherine Cline, Phyllis Edwards.

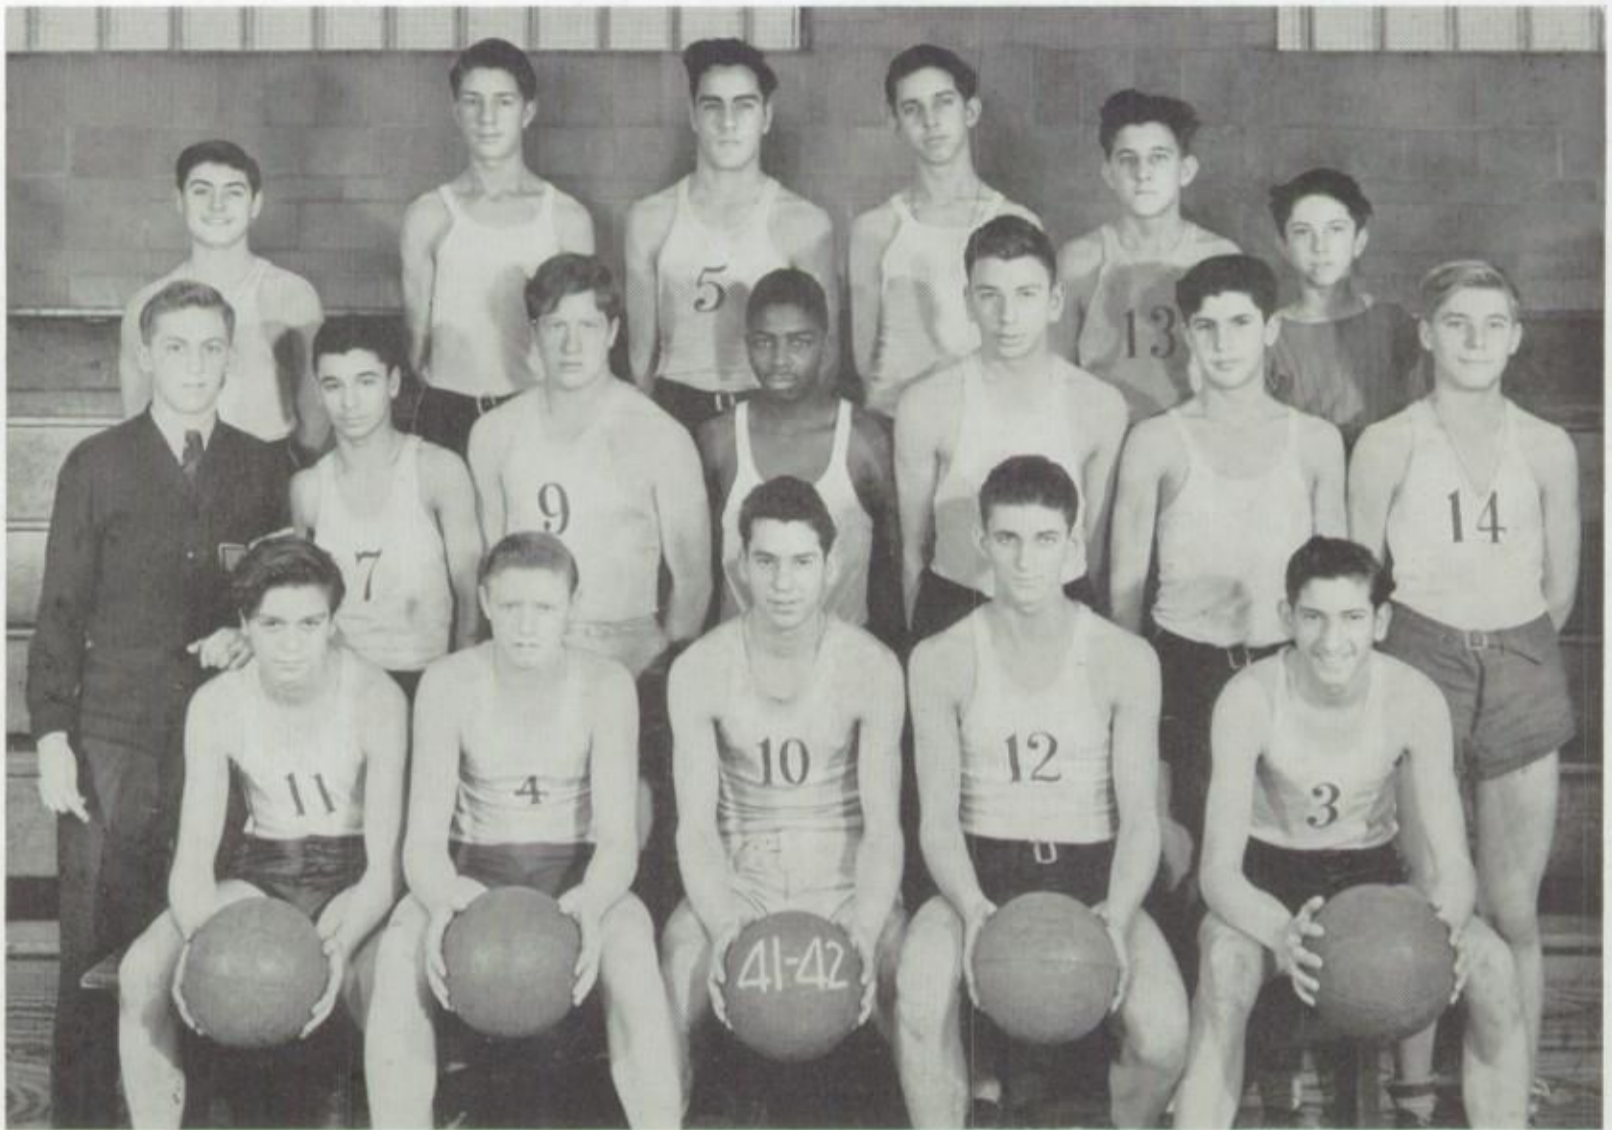

SECOND ROW: Martha Hayward, Betty Ambro, Mary Bartley.

THIRD ROW: Mary Crombie, Rae Lashley, Ruth Schmidt.

The girls of the Vim and Vigor Volleyball Teams surely had spark and vitality. Through a series of intramural tournaments the players on these two teams were chosen. Unlimited energy and skill in juggling a volleyball were needed to earn a position on one of these teams.

At their annual volleyball clash the encouraging roar of cheers from the sidelines spurred these dashing damsels to play their best.

The players were tense—the time limited—score tied—the whistle shrilled—and the valiant Vigors left the floor with glowing faces that shone with smiles of victory.

Freshman Basketball

The varsity basketball squad of 1945 started their high school careers in a pleasing manner, rolling to 15 wins in 20 games. The squad was gifted with three first string men over 5'-10". They are Hess, Carnahan, and Moore. Frank and Stan rounded out the starting five who climaxed the season by defeating the Holy Trinity quintet 26-23. The Frosh competed in the city Class D league, finishing in second place.

Keep your eyes on these boys for they will be battling for reserve and varsity positions the next three years.

Timken's Diary

Dearest Diary:

I'm very sorry, honest, that I've neglected you so this year, but, gosh, never a dull moment! So-o-o, here's a special treat—a whole year's revue of what's been cookin'.

There was that first day—could I ever forget? Someone shoves a pile of books in my arms, gives me my schedule and locker combination, then orders poor me to "go forth into the halls of Ye Old T. V. H. and don't come back until you've learned your a-b-c's—see." So here I am, but where's my locker?

(Gee, imagine how the poor froshes feel! It takes them weeks to go to one room the same way twice. They are never quite the same again. In fact, they may often be seen rambling about the halls with a vacant stare, practically gray at the temples, mumbling "38—7—42, room 304 first period, room 116 second" and so on.)

Well, Diary Dear, I found it and everything would have been just fine if I hadn't put my books, schedule, and locker combination in the locker and then walked away forgetting the number and combination. Ah, me.

And then, not so very long after, Hermie came over and asked me to go to the football game with him.

Yes, the football season at last! Oh, ho for the raccoon coat and hot water bottle, ho for the cold hot dog and little pink pills, ho for the frozen tootsies and Absorbine Jr., ho for rheumatic fever and doctor bills!

Our Alma Mater and McKinley were at swords points that night, so we intended to yell for our side. That was a game! It started off by———. Ed. note: (censored).

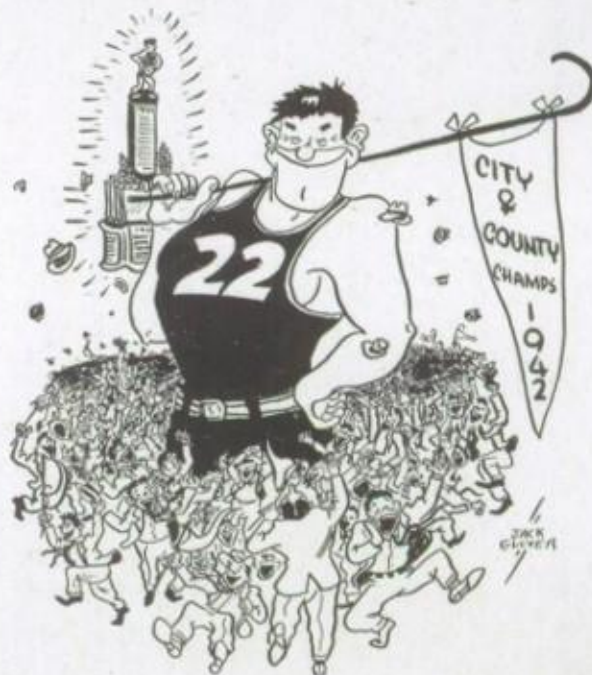

Wasn't that a shame? Timken vs. Niles came next, it was "they" 7-6. Oh, Oh, October pops up in my little date book, with ho-hum, pardon me, oh-oh, gosh, I'm sleepy, perhaps-I'd better-put-a-period-on-this-sentence-here-and-now.

My darlingest Diary:

Well, we left Oct. last night didn't we? Two football games were played—tied one and won one. Then there was an Indian show; he was a real live Indian but he didn't sell any medicine. Missed English (how sad). Our seniors held their class party in the gym—oh, boy, maybe I didn't rate that one but I did dance with that certain blonde someone at the junior party next night. He even asked me to go to the Timken vs. Kenmore game!!! Did Hermie boil?! I made it up (I hope) by going to see Clark Gable (swoon) with him on teacher's day off at Cleveland.

Oh, unhappy day! My bunions got "third degree" on Armistice Day in November as the band marched in full regalia all around the town. I heard favorable comment about us later, over a pan of mustard water.

Guess what? Yours truly had a part in "Calling All Ghosts" and just screamed her lungs out—gorillas 'n everything!—Also screamed 'til hoarse over our 4 victories at basketball—we showed 'em; and again wrecked bunions at sophomore party—those kids can really sw-wing it.

But, oh, what's this,—couldn't be, yes 'is—a vacation, by golly. Christmas—oh boy, oh boy, did we have fun, 2 weeks of it.

Then, gosh, oh gee—"Into each life a little rain must fall" and poor me was back in my cell—No. 304 on January 5. Chin up, carry on—all that sort of thing, though;—Lincoln, Newton Falls, Sebring, Western Reserve, Akron East, and Lehman Basketball scores rather sweetened up my lemonade.

Then in all due courtesy, there was a gentleman who spoke on "London Under Bombing" at assembly and explained calmly that the best way to escape being beamed by a bomb was to stay out from under the thing;—must remember that.

Diary Dear:

Little black book for February shows a senior and junior party first thing.—Guess what was used for decoations?—Sunday funny papers! Money was given to Red Cross as our jab at Japs. Of course, we played Alliance on the sixth and, of course, we won 32 to 27. Then, ahem, we also played McKinley, and, ahem, won. In fact we came out city and county champs.

February was a month of basketball games (and, diary dear, I'd like to say here and now that we had a swell team—just wait till next year! and oh boy!) but March stole into the social spotlight with our Revue—from "Carmen" into slapstick—and the "All Clubs" party (you can imagine the fun)—Hermie escorted faithfully on all occasions. You know, I wouldn't tell a soul, but I actually think I like him.

Dear Diary:—

Let's see, March was last on the list, wasn't it, hmmmmmmmm, Jan., Feb., March, oh yes, April and spring. Discovered first dandelion on the fifteenth. Herman got a new suit. When he turns his left profile to a person and slicks back his hair (seldom happens) he rather, just rather, resembles Clark Gable!! (Maybe it's that touch of spring sneaking back again, or maybe it's my imagination. He looks so nice in his band uniform and only flatted 6 times during the whole band festival. He cut quite a figger at the frosh and sophomore parties, too, if I may say so. In fact, he practically stole the spotlight during the band concert in May, and lost the place only twice (he really improves each day).

Senior Prom was held the twenty-second, it was beautiful, and, sniff, a little sad. Seniors became such a rarity toward end of the year that each time one walked down the hall looking business-like and bored with us children, a head would pop from some door and a voice would scream—"Look, a senior!!!"—a flash of camera bulbs, congratulations, and "May I have your autograph, us-please?" immediately following. (A little exaggerated, but you get the idea.)

Our dear little fledglings tried their wings on the twenty-ninth, and so far, not one has fallen on his nose.

Our also dear, and weary teachers enjoyed pink lemonade at their own special picnic—no students allowed within ten miles.

Of course, there were a lot of excited whispers flying about in preparation of the Big Event. "Wachu gonna wear?"—"No kidding?"—"I prefer an orchid"—"He sez he's gonna wear striped pants and arrive with his head shaved to look natural"—"Let's come in slacks"—"She looks like Lana Turner in anything"—

"He's a dilly"—"Do pink and green go well together?"—"I'd like black and blue"—"I got three dozen pictures of myself—know anybody that wants one?"—"Bill's gonna come with lunch pail and overalls, he's supposed to be working that shift"—"She passed by the skin of her typewriter"—"Her pop promised her a Ford coupe but she'll be satisfied with a scooter"—"Joe takes his military enthusiasm out on the Grand March and I expect someone to yell 'hep-hep' next time we go by"—"He's the Barry-moer of '42," etc., etc.

And then, oh gosh, gee, Commencement came on June 4, and most everybody, who had been a pal all these years, walked up and received his diploma—looking a little taller, a little older—and when he came down he was a different person,—something gone, but determined and anxious to represent us 'til our time should come.

I remember their faces that night, and Diary Dear, even when all of us were pardoned on June 5 to breathe fresh air again I remembered them;—something about the expression—a prophecy.

Do you think I could have that firmness of mind when I trip up for my sheepskin? Maybe, huh? Oh, well, so-long.

P. S.—Am enclosing a few pictures of me for personal album—these were only snap-shots at unsuspected seconds so they might not quite do me justice.

Yours for ever & ever trooly,

Lulu.

Calling All Ghosts

"Calling All Ghosts," a thrilling mystery comedy in three acts was the dramatic performance of the year.

David Elliott, playing the part of an aspiring young detective, seemed to think he was really quite prudent when it came to figuring out difficult problems. So, Betty Jane Smith, portraying the part of his wife, decided to teach him a much needed lesson by planning a complicated fake murder. With the aid of superb acting by Llwellyn Knight and Pat Harmon, a pair of young lovebirds and a monstrous, artificial gorilla, her plan worked out perfectly. But Bob Trent (David Elliott) discovered the plan and reversed the situation by executing an act on his part that turned the tables in his favor. Finally, both husband and wife confessed their plots, schemes, and wrong doings against one another and with everybody happy, the final curtain was drawn—the end of a great play within a play.

Variety Show

The Timken Revue of "42," displaying the outstanding talents of our students, was entirely new and surprisingly different from any other school presentation.

The orchestra played several well rehearsed selections, the curtain went up, and from there every kind of entertainment from the opera, Carmen, to Conga lines, humorous short plays, and gym exhibitions, kept the spotlights working double time.

Cadet girls, dressed in red, white and blue costumes performed a snappy military routine and introduced a very patriotic grand finale including a statue of a minute man and a large red "V" focused by spotlight onto the curtain.

MINUTEMAN: Robert Reinhart; DIRECTOR: Cecil Armitage.

Festivities

Our class parties are always anticipated with much enthusiasm and anxiety. Movies, dancing, singing, unique decorations and costumes always insure everyone present a barrel of fun and hilarity.

The juniors and seniors each had a masquerade party in the fall, which was exceptionally well attended. Even the teachers enjoyed themselves by wearing idiotic costumes of some sort or another and partaking in the festivities.

Christmas and the holiday season provided the sophomores with the title of "Holly Frolic" for their first fun festival. By the time the dance ended, many of those shy "sophies" were just getting started, but they lost no time making up for it. Their second party, held in the latter part of April, was a wonderful get-together.

The upperclassmen enjoyed two more parties, both after the immortal December 7. That true American spirit burst forth in all its glory and inspired such patriotic themes as the "Victory Dance" for seniors and the "Red Cross Ball" for juniors.

Last but not least came the Young-uns Skip in late April—the freshman party—containing a rich mixture of fun, backwardness and awkwardness, but it provided all present with a real treat.

ALL CLUBS PARTY

Extra curricular activities put that spice into school life that makes it so full and enjoyable.

Musical organizations, clubs, and many interesting social groups always enable pupils to become better acquainted, increase their general knowledge, and improve their personalities.

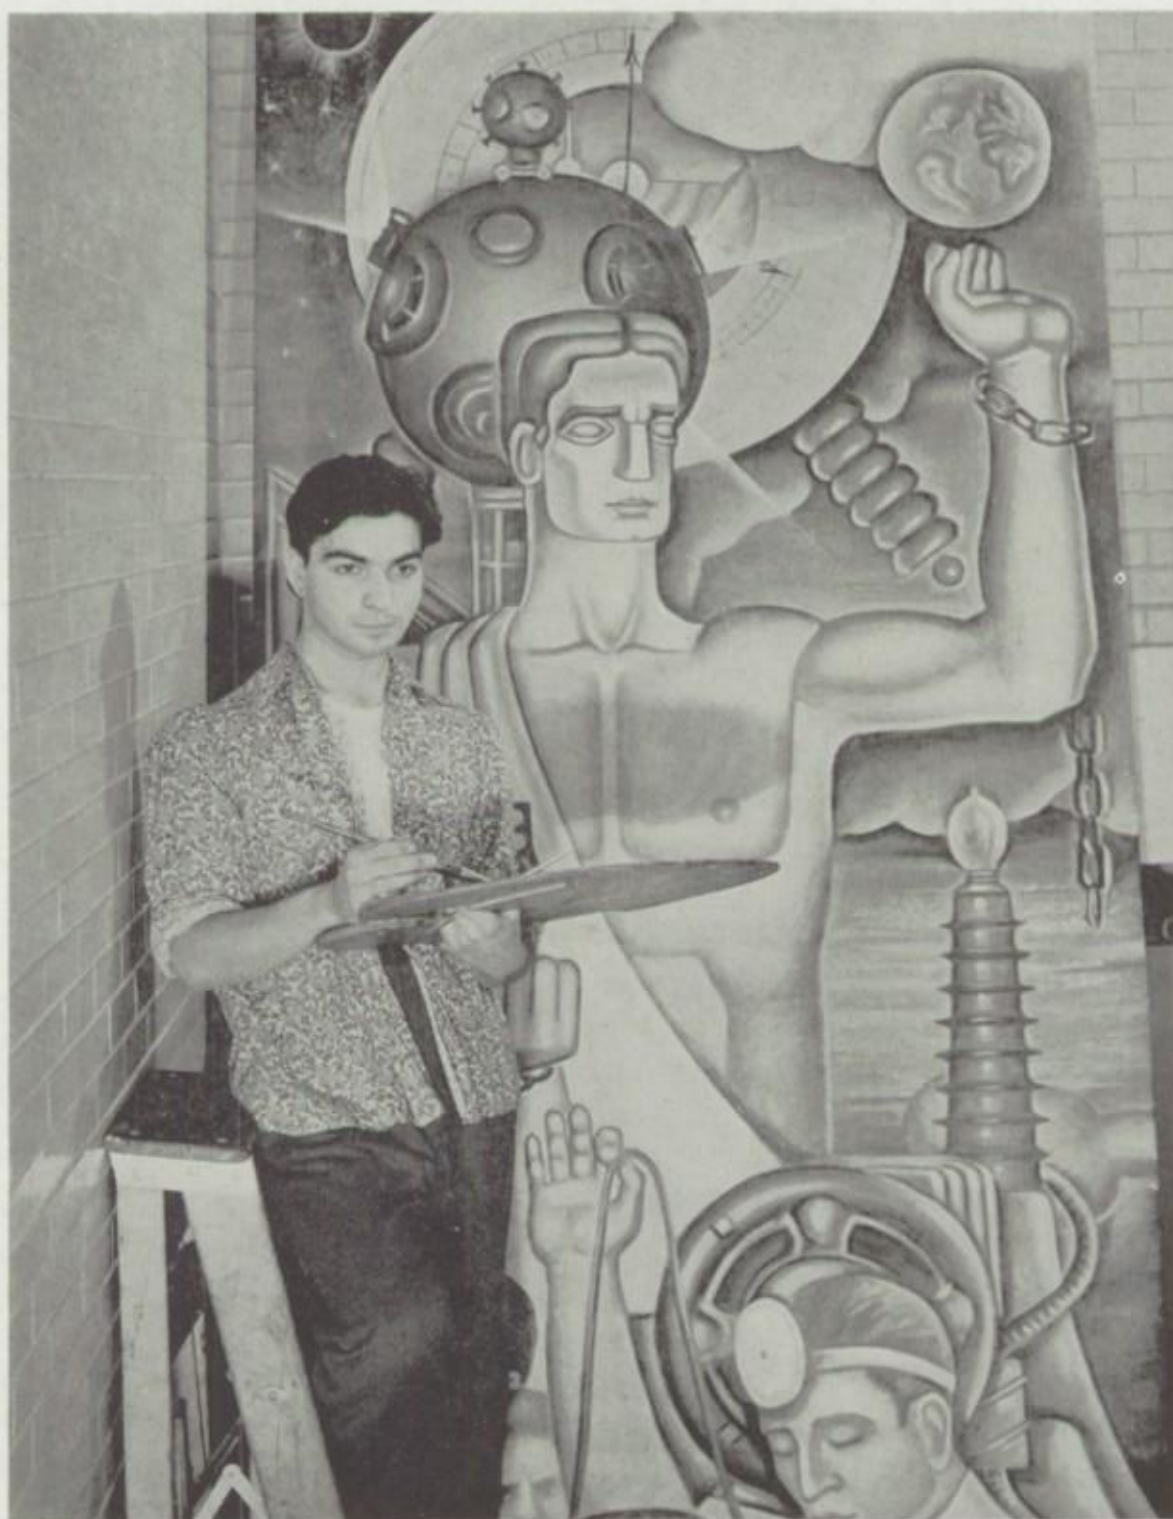

To compensate the pupils in these activities for their splendid work in and about the building, Timken Vocational High School sponsors the one, the only, and the original All Clubs Party.

This one great pleasure-packed party eliminates any confusion about the school that might be caused by a number of group parties. But the students especially cherish the party because it brings together many friends who are not members of the same clubs.

"Toppers' Hop" was the theme of the 1942 party and a very appropriate theme it was, for the top pupils comprised the clubs in attendance. Decorations, carrying out the top hat motive adorned the gymnasium and displayed Tony Rose's popular swing-piece orchestra in a most appealing manner. A capacity crowd of about five hundred students and teachers had the time of their lives at this typical Timken treat.

Murals by Frank Marchione Depict Important Phases of American Life

Pictured in the form of a powerful man with broken chains on his wrists to represent the broken chains of ignorance, the first mural honors the Sciences.

Resourceful fruits of Mother Nature furnish the theme for the mural that Frank has entitled Industry. While the miner, farmer, and industrial worker are busy doing their share, the factories in the background change the raw materials into man's needs.

The greatest advancement of the human race has been Education. Behind the modern teacher endowed with the knowledge donated by ancient ancestors stands the statue of the greatest teacher, Aristotle.

Regardless of our race or creed, we are all Americans. A madonna-like mother and child surrounded by people of every nationality, and by such men as Jackson, Lincoln, Washington, and Theodore Roosevelt represent Frank's ideas on Community.

Music, literature, sculpture, dramatics, architecture, and painting — arts for every taste and desire are portrayed in forms of a violin, book, statue, masks of comedy and tragedy, and by a piano.

The last of the murals and the one striking closest to home is Frank's interpretation of Religion. Through an archway is seen the massive image of a cross with numerous groups of people standing below it, tortured by the ravage of diseases, crime and war. A priest points the way to the cross and salvation.

We compliment Timken Vocational High Students for their accomplishment.

In the work before them, what they learned is necessary for further accomplishments.

In our store we constantly strive toward better, more serviceable accomplishments. We try to do this by using what we learned in the past—to build and make better the future.

*Don't stop learning. Be teachable

Graduates In Demand

Would you like to be a secretary, a typist, a book-keeper, an accountant, or an assistant to a business executive?

The demand for trained office workers is greater than we have ever known. Young men and young women are needed. They are needed both by local industries and by the Government.

Prepare for a better position and permanent employment by attending Canton-Actual—located in one of the great defense areas of the country.

Call at the College, write, or phone 3-5908 for a free catalog which explains courses offered, time required, and tuition rates.

DON'T Work So Hard, Ladies

HERE'S THE SECRET OF EASY CLEANING

The bane of many a woman's life is the problem of keeping the bathroom clean and tidy. Here's a good work-saving recipe:

1. Dissolve 1 teaspoon Climalene (2 for heavy cleaning) in 1 gallon warm water.
2. Wash woodwork, painted walls, floor, tiling, fixtures. See how the dirt vanishes, bathroom sparkles. No scratch—no film.

To prevent "unsightly bathtub ring," sprinkle a handful of Climalene in the bath water.

Your yearbook is a store of treasured memories. The oft repeated thrill of recollection which accompanies each new search through its pages will many times repay you for the care and consideration which has gone into its creation.

We are proud to have had some part in the production of this book. It indicates the wealth of ideas and ability which have made possible the Northern's long record of school annual achievement.
